Wedding Bells

(From The Viking News)

BRENNER-HARRIS.

A pretty wedding took place in Detroit, Michigan, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Leary, former residents of this place, on Saturday, November 7th, at 7 P. M., when Miss Mary Rowena Harris, second daughter of Mrs. M. Harris, of Viking, was united in marriage to Mr. John G. Brenner, of Detroit. Rev. Dr. M. S. Rice, of Detroit, officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed by a number of immediate relatives and friends. The wedding march was played by Mr. H. Brenner, of Toronto, Ont.

The bride looked charming in a gown of sand chiffon, with hat and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaid, Mrs. C. D. Woodcock, of Calgary, a sister of the bride, wore brown chiffon and hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of pale red roses. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Dr. W. Brenner, of Detroit, who was best man.

From 8 to 9 P. M. a reception was held in honor of the newlyweds after which a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Brenner will take up residence at Apartments 207, 5121 W. Chicago Blvd., Detroit.

The bride is well known in this community, having been until leaving for Detroit six years ago, a member of the local staff of the Bank of Montreal, and was very popular in social circles. The groom is a young man of sterling worth, coming from Kingston, Ont., to make his home in Detroit some years ago.

A host of friends here join in extending congratulations and good wishes.

Household Hints

CHRISTMAS BAKING

Farm folks often like to get their Christmas Cakes and Puddings made in November before the rush of last minute gift making comes along. Here are some tested recipes that have never failed me.

The basic ingredients of the cake serve either for light or dark cake, and the finished cake will appeal to all who taste it. I am giving the basic recipe and my variations.

Basic Recipe

1 lb. butter, 2 cups white sugar (fine granulated), 9 eggs, 5 cups sifted flour, salt according to salt in butter, 2 tsp. milk if needed, 1-2 tsp. baking powder, sifted with flour, grated rind and juice of one lemon, 2 tsp. almond extract.

Rub the butter until soft and creamy, using a wooden spoon, very gradually add sugar, working constantly until light and creamy. Beat eggs well, half the number at a time, add to first mixture and beat for several minutes. Add mixture dry ingredients a spoonful at a time, and beat thoroughly. Add milk now and lemon juice and rind. Beat again.

Variations

(1) A most delicious white fruit cake is made by adding: 1-2 cup chopped almonds, 1-2 cup candied cherries 1-2 cup candied pineapple, 1-2 cup sultana raisins, 2 tsp. finely chopped plum, 1-2 cup grated coconut. Mix all with part of flour.

(2) To make cherry cake add to basic recipe 1-2 lb. candied cherries and 2 tbsp. finely chopped plum, mixed with flour.

(3) For a delicious dark cake add to basic recipe and add spices to flour, and mix all thoroughly.

This recipe makes two loaf cakes or largest cake in tier set.

The pan must be lined with 3 or 4 ply of paper, then filled 2-3 full of mixture, covered with oiled paper and baked in a very moderate oven, 1-2 hours if in loaf pans, longer if large pan is used. Be sure oven is slow enough to let cake rise without forming a crust during first part of baking, and remember not to stint the beating where called for. Store in tin to ripen.

PLUM PUDDING

Prepare 3 moulds or pudding bags, if you prefer them. The night before boiling puddings prepare and mix all ingredients to blend flavors: 1-2 loaf bread crumbs, 1-2 quart flour, 1 lb. brown sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1-2 grated nutmeg, 1 tsp. mace, sugar and rind of one lemon, 1-2 quart milk, nuts if desired, 1 tsp. almond flavor, 1 lb. suet, 1 lb. each seeded and seedless raisins, 1 lb. currants, 1-2 lb. mixed peel, 4 eggs.

Boil hard and continuously for 6 or 8 hours (herein lies the secret of good plum pudding). Then boil 2 or 3 hours more the day they are used.

FAVORITE SAUCE

We much prefer this sauce to the straight hard sauce, with this rich pudding: Cream, 1-3 cup butter and 1 cup icing sugar, and when light fold in 1 cup whipped cream and 1 egg white, stiff. Chill thoroughly after adding almond or vanilla extract to suit taste.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Ladies who are interested in the Baskerville Course please note change of date, November 24th, 25th and 26th Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 10 to 12 a.m., and 2 to 4 p.m. Please have on hand and cut this out for reference; Pair of Scissors, Steel Knitting Needle, inch tape, note book and pencil and pocket knife.

3 ply veneer should be used for tray bases and the holes must be bored to fit No. 4 reed 1-4 inch from the edge and 1 inch apart.

Those who did not purchase the reed from the Institute can send to E. M. Moyer Co., Ltd., Edmonton. Tell them exactly what you wish to make and let them send the reed. They do not sell less than 1 lb. and it takes two different sizes, so two ladies should purchase together and exchange. Allow $1.00 a lb.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Schornert, and as this is the annual meeting every one try and turn out. The roll call will be answered by the payment of 1931 dues, 50c. We have 38 names on the books and 32 paid up members for this year. Those in arrears please try to see the Secretary before the annual meeting.

VETERANS REQUEST NOVEMBER 11th BE RULED AS A NATIONAL HOLIDAY

At a recent general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, Edmonton Unit, it was unanimously decided to request the Dominion authorities to hereafter declare November 11th as a Dominion holiday.

The Unit feels that since the cessation of hostilities was effective as from that date the same and no other should be set aside as the occasion for all future days of solemn remembrance.

The returned men desire to dissociate themselves with the practice of "celebrating" Armistice on Thanksgiving Day, and feel that the cause of peace may best be served by a Dominion wide observance on the actual date upon which the Armistice was signed and not at a time set aside for merriment and thanksgiving.

As a means to bring about the desired end, the Edmonton Unit has taken the lead and will cause a Dominion wide petition to be presented to the Dominion government praying for the necessary action.—Bulletin.

A New and Better Attitude

"The world is passing through a period of depression from the evil effects of which practically no civilized nation is exempt, and the more highly developed and industrialized a nation has become, the more severely it is suffering from the prevailing depression. Undoubtedly, it is not wise to unduly dwell upon or stress existing hard times, and the tendency to do so should be resisted, but, on the other hand, it would be even more unwise to ignore facts, deliberately shut our eyes to them, and not make the required effort to overcome and shorten the present evil, seek for causes of it, and take necessary steps to prevent its recurrence."

There have been many such periods in the past, and there will, in all probability, be more of them in the future, despite all that man can do to prevent them. In fact, human failings and human greed are the underlying causes of these periods of depression, and their entire prevention will only be brought about by a complete reform of the human race. The present period differs, however, from former periods of depression in at least two important respects, both of which are the outcome of a changed attitude on the part of the vast majority of people towards our whole social and economic structure.

First, there is greater interest taken in relief measures than ever before by governments, corporations, and individuals alike. We no longer regard acute misery as necessary. We want to know how to prevent it, but there is a widespread and growing belief that the thing can be done and there is considerable willingness to make sacrifices to attain the desired end.

No longer is there callous indifference to the suffering caused by reason of unemployment. We have progressed to the point of realizing that the homeless casual laborer is not the only or even the principal sufferer in such times as these. We have learned to concentrate attention and relief upon the families of the unemployed who are permanent members of the community. We have come to realize that the difficulties of hundreds of thousands are not of their own making, and that they cannot be allowed to suffer want and utter privation. We have learned, too, that it is better to provide emergency relief work for these people than to hand out doles and make them recipients of charity.

Thus in this present period of depression we find relief works being undertaken on a scale hitherto unknown. In Canada, it means that over $100,000,000 will be expended in order to provide temporary work for those lacking employment. This, of course, is not a cure; nor is it a preventive. It is merely an amelioration of existing conditions. It means, too, that as a people we are mortgaging our future, because these $100,000,000 or more will be borrowed moneys upon which we must pay interest for many years to come. But it is better to utilize these moneys in providing work than to dole it out in charity. Furthermore, if the works instituted are of the right character, in a word, if they are of a permanent character, they will be of good to the country in the years to come, and the money thereon is not wastefully expended, they may even prove factors in creating and maintaining a new prosperity and staving off further periods of depression.

But an even more important aspect of this present period of depression is discovered in the efforts being put forth to find out what caused the depression, and how to climb out of it, and how to avoid again falling into a similar state. We now realize that a good deal of the economic thinking of recent years has been the test of the last twelve months. But as the Chicago Tribune puts it, we have not lost one product of boom times; we still think that it is the business of an economic system to make for human enjoyment. Economics is not the dismal science to this generation. We know we have the productive capacity to provide a generous minimum standard of living to all who will work and we regard large scale unemployment and consequent suffering as a reflection upon our intelligence. It is one thing, of course, to believe that a deep seated ill ought to be cured and quite another to cure it. And while there is no justification as yet for thinking that this is the last depression which we shall ever encounter, there is a considerable warrant for a tempered optimism. Some of the ablest minds in business and in the universities are directed toward the problem. We have more statistical information which bears on the causes of the business cycle than ever before. We are developing a technique for alleviating the worst effects of depressions, which will be of value even if a cure is not found. The outlook is far from hopeless.

Blindness In Many Cases Is Preventable

Preservation Of Sight Should Be Taught In Schools

"That one-half of blindness among children is preventable, and that the prevention of blindness should be first taught in the schools, is the opinion of Miss Mary C. McLelland, National Field Secretary of the Prevention Department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Toronto.

Miss McLelland said that her department was in favor of test books with larger type being used, as they are in the States. A child with defective sight would have to strain to read small type at present used in text book publication. In order to consider the publication of such a book when the new reader for the western province comes out, a committee has been formed, with Dr. Fletcher, of Winnipeg, as head. A survey is also being made in an effort to have sight saving classes instituted in the larger cities, she said.

Television Is Improving

Spectators See Actors Distinctly At Distance Of Thirty Miles

Images as clear as those seen in the average motion picture theatre are projected by a television transmitter which has been tested in Germany. The spectators are able to observe the vividly colored pictures much as if they were at a moving picture show. The transmitter catches pictures with a sharp lens having a celerity of 50,000 light pictures a second. By the use of a photo-electric cell these light pictures are changed and transmitted on a 70-micron wave. Spectators 30 miles distance faced the lens and saw pictures of the actors with the utmost distinctness.

Danger from Colds

Every woman beyond middle age should realize that a majority of the troubles she has to fear have their origin in what are known as common colds. Each attack lowers her vitality and reduces resistance to disease. At this season of the year every woman should see that her blood is toned up to meet the rigors of the climate and especially the attacks should be restored after any cold, however slight. For this Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a reliable medicine. These Pills are not a mere stimulant, giving temporary relief. They build up the body by creating a rich red blood which imparts the glow of health; steadies the nerves, improves the appetite and digestion and make the users capable of withstanding the rigors of our Fall and Winter seasons. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Some People Lucky With Blind Purchases

King's Warehouse In London Sells Valuable Parcels

What the Lost Property Office is to an ordinary railway, the King's Warehouse, situated in Lower Thames Street, London, England, is to the Customs and Excise Department of the British Government. Here are dumped articles and merchandise left unclaimed by the individuals to whom they have been consigned, plus a considerable proportion of confiscated smuggled goods. From time to time these articles are put up for auction, and great bargains are not infrequently picked up. On one occasion a small casket, labelled "contents unidentified," was knocked down for a few shillings. When the purchaser took it home and opened it he found it to be nearly half-full of a solid, waxy substance somewhat of the appearance of marble which proved to be ambergris, that precious product of deceased whales worth about $50 an ounce. There were approximately 40 lbs. weight of it in the casket, and it was sold for above $300,000. Another time a lucky bidder obtained possession, for the sum of half-a-crown, of a small cardboard box, listed in the catalogue as containing "seabirds' eggs—various." On examining his purchase, he found amongst the eggs one of the Great Auk, an extinct species of sea-fowl. Later on, it realized at auction for its fortunate finder the nice little sum of $1,800.

"Audible Museum" In Berlin

Phonograph Record Made In 1908 Is Among Collection

The piercing wail of a grief-stricken Korean, the merry song of a Roumanian tailor, the whoop of an American cowboy and the lingering call of a Spanish night watchman are some of the exotic sounds which the non-traveller will shortly be able to hear in an "audible museum" soon to be established in Berlin under the direction of the Ministry of Posts. A recently found primitive phonograph record of Count Zeppelin's voice in which the father of the airship appeals to the German people for support of his project will also be included. This record dates from 1908, shortly after a disaster to one of his airships at Emden, and includes the words: "In a few years my airships will conquer the world." Acting on the belief that appropriate sounds intensify the impressions a visitor receives from displays, the Ministry intends to incorporate a series of records, which interested folk may turn on and hear the voices of such men as Edison, Marconi, Lindbergh, and others of historical interest, as well as sounds from other lands and other times in so far as they are collectable and recordable.

Proved His Honesty

A pick and shovel bought on credit 17 years ago from George Paine, an Ashtabula, Ohio, hardware merchant, has just been paid for. Paine received a letter, postmarked Michigan City, Ind., containing $2 and the following note: "Seventeen years ago you trusted me with a pick and shovel. I told you I would pay you the first time I found $2. I just found it today. Here it is. The honest men are not all dead yet."

Origin Of Common Expression

The expression "to put a spoke in the wheel" would suggest, adding strength to a wheel, although actually the saying is used to indicate that somebody's progress has been hindered. It has its origin, no doubt, in the far-off days when vehicles had solid wooden wheels. Holes were made in some of these so that the driver who wished to put on the brake could do so by pushing through one of the holes a piece of wood, called a spoke, and thus prevent the wheel from revolving.

Peace River Bacon

Bacon Hogs Now Shipped In Carloads From Peace River To Vancouver

Less than 30 years ago, the Peace River District of Alberta, an extensive area of country northwest of Edmonton, was considered even by some agricultural experts as unsuited for productive farming. It is now one of the best wheat and other grain producing areas in Canada and also is growing in importance in mixed farming. Bacon hogs are now being shipped in carloads to Vancouver. Among the principal buyers of the Peace River hogs are the Vancouver Department Stores. Housewives of that city say that the bacon from Peace River is of the finest quality and like Oliver Twist they want more.

One of the most recent Canadian winners of the world's wheat prize at the International Grain and Hay Show, Chicago, was from the Peace River country, namely, Herman Trelle, of Wembley, Joseph H. B. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, last year's winner, is also an Alberta farmer, but is located outside of the Peace River District.

Army Of Enumerators Will Be Employed In Taking The Decennial Census Of Canada

Fourteen thousand enumerators, 245 commissioners to direct their work, and a considerable number of others, will find employment next year in the taking of the decennial census of Canada.

The commissioners—one for each electoral district—will be appointed right after New Year, while the enumerators will be chosen in March or April, to permit of study and instruction prior to the actual date of the census, which will be on June 1st. The census taking, of course, will require considerable time, varying in accordance with the area covered and the density of population. But what is to be put down are all the facts and figures as they may be on June 1st, regardless of what changes may occur later, before the census is published. It is necessary to fix on some arbitrary date.

Awaiting the approval of the Government just now and to be promulgated as soon as this sanction is forthcoming are the regulations governing the census-taking statistics. There are several new features. Each successive census being more elaborate, past experience not only here but in other countries will be availed of. The Bureau of Statistics is constantly exchanging ideas with the international statistical organization. In the new schedules, complete as they have been heretofore, there will be further details of agriculture and industry, and the point over which some contention has arisen as to Canadian nationality will be covered. A person who says he is simply a Canadian will be put down as such, although it is denied that in the past it was impossible to make such distinctions.

The census must also take account some seeming anomalies in the law.

For example, under the immigration act, even a Britisher must be in Canada for five years before he can acquire Canadian domicile, and yet if he has been here only six months he can vote or even be eligible for election to Parliament. The schedules will be so numerous as to set forth all the facts concerning the individual and his origin from away back.

One of the entirely new features this time will be the use of aeroplanes in the northern regions, which, 10 years ago, had to be covered on foot or by canoe or dog train. Incidentally, the tabulation was delayed until these returns came in. Next year, they will be as prompt as the rest.

While the census is taken completely only every 10 years, check on it is kept from year to year, and the figures are such as to indicate a normal growth but no extraordinary increase in population. Although quite an army of competent people will be required for the census business, the problem will be only one of selection, because there will be plenty seeking the jobs. The appointments are to be made by the Government and not under the Civil Service Act, and so political influence may count.

Predicts Speedier Planes

Rocket Craft Expert Believes 5,000 Miles Per Hour Possible

Herr Fritz Von Opel, German rocket craft expert, predicts the airplane of 12 years hence will be a rocket propelled contrivance that will fly 25 miles above the earth at a speed of 3,000 to 5,000 miles an hour.

"It is not it sounds ridiculous to talk of travelling 5,000 or even 3,000 miles an hour," said Von Opel, "but in a few years that speed will be commonplace. Theoretically my experimental planes will do that now, but they have not been developed on a practical basis."

Encourage Swine Industry

Saskatchewan Government Arranges For Easy Purchase Of Breeding Stock

Encouragement of the swine industry in Saskatchewan is promised under a new arrangement, according to Hon. W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture. Under this arrangement, farmers will be enabled to purchase sows for breeding purposes through the Department of Agriculture upon making a payment of 25 per cent. of the cost and giving notes for the balance.

"In recent years, while we had a 50 per cent. cash option for the purchase of swine," Mr. Buckle said, "most farmers preferred to pay cash. This year on account of the scarcity of money, we are inaugurating this new plan."

YOUTHFULLY FLATTERING HOUSE FROCK ADOPTS EMPIRE LINES—SUITABLE MISS OR MATRON

You'll like its slender lines. The pointed treatment of the gored skirt emphasizes the smart quaint basque bodice. The partial belt arrangement does much toward concealing hip breadth. The open V-neckline with pointed collar is particularly becoming.

It's easily made. Style No. C-891 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch contrasting and 4 1/2 yards of binding.

It's very attractive to have one's house frock agree with the kitchen color scheme.

It is sketched in deep blue and white dimity with white pique collar and blue bindings.

Men's striped cotton shirting, tiny gingham checks, pin dotted broadcloth and tweed-like cottons make up lovely in this model.

Substitution Of Barley For Corn

Experimental Stations Are Testing Feeding Value Of Both

A question which is causing considerable study this year is that of reducing the amount of corn purchased by Canada and the substitution of barley, a home-grown feed. The feeding value of barley as compared to that of corn is being given careful study at several experimental stations and already there have been several definite recommendations made for the use of this grain in at least partial replacement of corn.

The large part of the Canadian importations of corn go to the feeding of hogs and poultry. For the housing of hogs and poultry, the former, the barley has been long proven to rival corn as a feed both in its value as a fattener and for a part of the ration of the growing hog. The quality of finish produced by barley, in conjunction with oats or other feeds is generally believed to be superior to that of the corned hog.

In the poultry industry, the use of barley in place of corn is not nearly so well established. There is a certain vitamin value obtained from the use of yellow corn in the poultry ration which is rather difficult to replace when other feeds are substituted. General indications are, however, that the corn content of the laying mash can be substituted at least partly by barley and, with the ordinary spread in prices between the two, it will probably be found profitable to do so. For fattening chickens there is reason to believe that a good percentage of well ground barley in the feed will work out quite satisfactorily.

Barley and corn are both known as high carbohydrate feeds, and with the exception of the difference in hull formation and in the vitamin content of the yellow corn pigment, may be considered in much the same light as fairly strong, heat producing and fattening feeds. Should the price spread favor barley to any extent during the winter and especially if the feeder has a quantity on hand, he should be quite safe in using a considerable portion of it in place of the corn he might ordinarily buy.

Saskatoon Poultry Association

Egg Laying Contest Organized To Run For A Year

The Saskatoon Poultry Association has organized an egg laying contest, beginning November 1st to run for a year on similar lines to that of the Dominion Government. The object is to secure for members of the Association trap nest records of individual birds for the twelve months which will furnish valuable data to those who are desirous of increasing the egg-laying propensities of their flocks. Those who have not time nor facilities for conducting the breeding of true-to-type birds that will lay a profitable number of eggs of good size and color.

HEAVY WINTER TRAVEL IS PREDICTED

Canada's Fish Industry

Should Get More Support From Canadian Consumers

Business can be stimulated and more work can be found for our own people through the persistent purchase of Canadian instead of foreign goods. In no sphere of life can this policy be more easily followed or its good effects be more quickly seen than in the every-day use for the housewife, especially of food. It is strange that though Canada has the finest fisheries in the world, the consumption of fish at home is relatively small; and, at the same time, we seem to think it necessary to buy considerable quantities of foreign fish year after year. The imports in 1929 amounted to no less than $4,174,568.

If we reduced the imports of foreign fish and eat more of our own the fishing industry would benefit enormously, and no industry is more worthy of encouragement. Fisheries on both inland and on the two seas are plain people who buy almost exclusively goods made in Canada. Is it not reasonable for consumers in Canada, to reciprocate by making more use of Canadian fish, and thus to increase the purchasing power of Canadian fishermen? The industry is rather difficult to appreciate, perhaps people who live inland do not appreciate, for the capital invested in it is nearly $60,000,000 and the annual production is worth more than $50,000,000. The money realized from the fisheries is spent with manufacturers of iron, brass, rubber, cordage, flour, textiles, engines, clothing—in fact, its ramifications are felt throughout the country, and directly or indirectly it gives employment to many thousands of workers, hundreds of miles away from the scene of operations. If each family in the land consumes even a few more pounds of Canadian fish it would give a great stimulus to an industry which already contributes so largely to the prosperity of Canada.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Figures For Past Ten Years Shows Heavy Business Done At Moose Jaw Stock Yards

"During the past ten years," says "The Optimist," "some 792,994 calves, 51,081 calves, 696,345 hogs, 238,944 sheep and 15,112 horses were handled through the stock yards at Moose Jaw, according to figures computed by the Southern Saskatchewan Co-Operative Stock Yards. In other words, more sheep and swine were handled through the Moose Jaw yards in the period under review than the entire number of sheep and swine present in Saskatchewan in 1929." In that year there were in Saskatchewan 1,169,913 cattle, 27,251 sheep, 399,909 swine and 1,122,757 horses.

A voice from the back of the hall called out, "Serves 'im jolly well right."

Study Of The Whole Field Of Federal And Provincial Taxation Is Thought Necessary

The ever widening problem of raising revenue for administration purposes and public undertakings by both provincial and the federal governments, has reached a stage that calls for thorough examination of the whole field of taxation, according to views advanced at the convention in Toronto, of the Canadian tax conference and the Canadian civil service research conference.

With delegates in attendance from widely separated parts of the Dominion, the conference applied itself to the study of the country's tax structure and offered suggested remedies in meeting some of the more outstanding problems.

Duplication and lack of uniformity in taxes levied in the various provinces, should invite tax reformers into action, declared A. E. Cryslar, of Toronto Board of Trade. Lack of uniformity, he said, proved a baffling problem for business interests operating over a large section of the country, while overlapping in connection with the income tax was often considered "unfair."

In a paper submitted by Prof. H. R. Kemp, Department of Economics, University of Toronto, two primary problems were set forth: How to secure increase of revenue, needed to meet the commitments of the Dominion, and how to improve present arrangements for obtaining revenue.

The Federal Government, he said, faced a deficit of about $40,000,000 while the provinces and municipalities were also confronted with the need of augmented revenues to meet obligations of public undertakings. As means of meeting these needs he suggested excise duties might be levied on certain low-priced commodities, citing sugar as an example. This suggestion, however, met with disfavor in the subsequent round-table discussion. Prof. Kemp believed there were other sources of revenue that might be explored, with the federal income tax probably slightly raised.

As a remedy for some of the existing tax evils, Prof. Kemp advised a thorough investigation into the double taxation of corporation income, provincial corporation taxes.

Shows Great Variation

Every Country Has Its Own Manner Of Eating

Nothing is more curious than the different manners of eating which are correct in different countries. We have succulent gravy on our plate, because good manners forbid that we should soak it up with a piece of bread. Yet in France to leave that gravy would be considered extremely rude, and the daintiest eater would certainly chase the last elusive drop round the plate with a soft piece of bread. The correct way to sop up with us is from the side of the spoon, but to do this in Germany would mark one as not knowing the habits of polite society; there it must be inhaled from the end of the spoon. Another—to us—curious custom is the French one of resting the hands always on the table, directly they have finished a course; to sit with them in the lap is not good manners.

This reminds us of a story a woman told once of a foreigner her father asked to the house. At dinner the first night asparagus was served, the visitor, having watched furtively what other people did, ate it in his fingers as to the manner born. The next night leeks appeared as a vegetable, and the young man, quite sure of himself this time, started on it happily, taking it in his fingers as he had done the asparagus. Now, did the laws of perfect breeding demand that all the people in the house should follow suit, or not? It is related of a perfect host that on one occasion when entertaining some visitor whose table manners were not very civilized, and who took up his finger bowl, and drank from it, he, after one glance round the somewhat astonished table, took up his finger bowl, and also drank from it!

The Magnetic Compass

The magnetic compass has been in common use for more than 700 years and it is more widely used today than ever before. On the sea, under the seas, on, above, and under the earth it is used for finding direction. It is necessary to the sailor afloat or in a submarine; to the surveyor and explorer on land; to the almanac who flies overhead and to the miner who burrows below in deep pits.

New Exchange Building

The officials of the Winnipeg Stock Exchange are being commended for their decision to go ahead with their construction programme which involves a new exchange building to be erected on Main Street at a cost of about $25,000.

two provincial authorities, and a general study by everybody interested of the whole subject of public debts and taxation.

Alluding to taxation in relation to the country's net production, Mr. Cryslar declared that in 1928 the increase in taxation revenues had been more rapid than the increase in the total net production. In that development he detected a dangerous portent. "We may soon have the heaviest taxation of all imposed on the citizen in the least of all years," he said.

A paper by J. G. Hay, Commissioner of Taxation in Winnipeg, dealing with assessment of urban land for taxation purposes, provoked general discussion.

Mr. Cryslar, reviewing taxation changes in 1930, stated the present trend was to extend the gasoline tax and relieve income tax payers. It was recognized, he said, the income tax was unpopular because of its tendency to penalize the honest to the advantage of the dishonest. He forecast a "lively legislative interest" and a "progressive softening" of the income tax.

A one-cent-per-pound tax on sugar said Prof. Kemp, would raise at least $9,000,000 a year for the Dominion. "Sugar," he argued, "is now selling at a price no higher than that prevailing before the war, and at less than the cost of production. Such a tax, though retrogressive, would perhaps not be unduly burdensome to consumers, who have paid over 25 cents a pound for sugar in the past."

Two prominent Toronto businessmen, William C. Coulter and George Bridgen, led the general attack on the proposed sugar tax. Mr. Bridgen asserted the governments of the world would never have paid over 25 cents a pound for sugar in the past, against excise taxes on such necessities when Britain lost the American colonies through the tea tax.

It was also suggested by Prof. Kemp that collection of municipal income taxes be made by the federal authorities, who would then turn the amount over to the municipalities. This, he said, would increase the net revenue from the tax. "Various public utilities also could yield large revenue in case of necessity," he added.

Arthur Howie, Hinton, was announced the winner of the Heron challenge cup, donated for annual competition by W. C. Heron, Hinton, Sask., for the best Saskatchewan bred Oxford sheep, three years or under. The cup was won in 1929 by A. M. Barnett, Hinton.

The officials of the Winnipeg Stock Exchange are being commended for their decision to go ahead with their construction programme which involves a new exchange building to be erected on Main Street at a cost of about $25,000.

VIKING

The fall chautauqua finished on Friday evening with the presentation of the farce comedy, "The Whole Town's Talking," by a group of Martin Erwin Players of Winnipeg. This play was extremely funny and gave the audience that filled the large Elks hall many a good hearty laugh at the ludicrous situations that developed in rapid succession, from the beginning of the play until the end.

The chautauqua opened on Tuesday evening with the play "Turn to the Right," which set the chautauqua off to a good start. This play was well received, although not on a par with the last night's play.

Each succeeding program proved popular with the crowd. Considine's Music Makers gave the Wednesday afternoon entertainment assisted by Laura Forbes, a reader and impersonator, whose selections were roundly applauded. Margaret Austin who has appeared on chautauqua for several seasons was the leader of the Music Makers. She had the same style of program as on her former appearances, even retained some of the jokes and stories which seemed a little ancient, yet she holds her audience with her remarkable energy and ability to entertain.

The Filipino Collegians were a snappy organization of young men from the Philippine Islands. These fellows were artists on several different kinds of stringed instruments and their playing and singing of the more popular songs, was a decided hit. There was not a dull moment in their programme, afternoon or evening.

Sam Grathwell was the lecturer for the third evening, and in his lecture, "Getting by Your Hoodoo," he upheld his reputation as being the foremost lecturer on the chautauqua platform today. His subject dealt with everyday fallacies and fancies, troubles and trials, many of which, he asserted, are imaginary. His optimistic observations and stories, interspersed with flights of oratory that enthused the crowd to vociferous applause, were timely indeed in times like these.

The superintendent of the local chautauqua was Miss Tyreman, of Prince Albert, who worked hard to make the chautauqua a success. She is remaining in town for a few days trying to sign up a new committee to guarantee chautauqua for next year.

A feature of the last evening's program was the presentation of prizes to little Patsy Dooley and Dave Sheets, winners of the prizes for the best costumes in the children's parade on Tuesday afternoon.

The report was received here today that Mrs. S. Robinson's mother, Mrs. B. Beamish, had died at Russell, Manitoba, on Sunday, November 16th. About three weeks ago, she fell and complications set in which resulted in her death. The deceased was 82 years of age, and up until her death had been hale and hearty. Mrs. Robinson who is now residing in Edmonton, left for Russell, and will accompany the body to the old home at Bolton, Ont., where burial will take place. The late Mrs. Beamish visited here about ten years ago and made many friends, who regret to hear of her passing. The community extends sympathy to Mrs. Robinson in her great loss.

Word was received on Tuesday that J. Brydges, former accountant at the Bank of Montreal here, had died in Edmonton on Tuesday forenoon of this week. He had been suffering for some time and his passing was not unexpected. The funeral will be held on Thursday in Edmonton.

Young boys who have been in the habit of climbing the poles that hold the transformers for the Calgary Power Company are warned not to do so any more, now that the power is turned on. Parents will please warn their children of the danger of electrocution and keep away from the power lines.

The local pool elevator want to spike the rumor that they are refusing to buy grain, also the rumor that the pool is going broke. The only reason for having had to stop any grain was that they had no room in the elevator, but it is being shipped out as fast as possible.

A gasoline can exploded in the McAthey & Jones garage Sunday forenoon and caused a blaze that could have had serious results. Harold Halgren who was in the shop at the time got the blaze under control and little damage was done.

Grain received at the local Pool elevator from the 1st to the 15th of November was 65,000 bushels; 46 cars were loaded in the same period, and the largest day's handling of grain was 8800 bushels on November 6th. Ten cent threshing and forty cent wheat.

"The Canadian Government is co-operating with ranches and exporters in their efforts to secure a market in Great Britain for Canadian cattle," said Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, who visited Montreal recently to inspect an experimental shipment of western steers at the stockyards in that city. The cattle, comprising 416 head of shorthorns, Herefords, Angus and pure-bred steers, were brought to Montreal on Canadian Pacific Railway for shipment to Manchester, England.

Analyzing the causes of business depression in Canada, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in a speech before the American Institute of Steel Construction, recently recalled American suggestions that cancellation of foreign debts due the United States would cure present world conditions and benefit that country that cancelled them. "It is not surprising," said Mr. Beatty, "that your men of great vision have reached the conclusion that if they were the debts were removed, industry would be stimulated, trade would expand, and prosperity would return, and out of the revivification of the world conditions would inevitably come great benefit to the United States."

A forty-mile ski marathon from Lake Louise to Banff will be one of the big features of the Banff Winter Carnival which will open February 1st next. The run will cross turbulent mountain streams and will follow ascending and descending ridges of great height. "No snow travelling in the last half," is the way skiing experts who have planned it, describe the event.

Fur farming in Canada is now established as a leading industry. The latest available figures show that the industry to-day represents a capital value of $25,286,177, of which $16,401,453 is invested in fur-bearing animals. Prince Edward Island is the leader in the industry, with Ontario and Quebec not far behind. Ten years ago total value of fur animals on the continent was $1,723,105.

Showing of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the month of September, in which an increase of $1,721,241 was shown in net earnings over the total for September of last year, in the face of an actual increase in gross of an actual increase in gross of earnings, is a tribute to a management's ability to adapt itself to unfavorable conditions, according to a financial authority of Montreal. The showing itself is not an indication of improved business for gross earnings were only $19,192,325 as against $19,551,217 one year ago, a decline of $358,891, but it is a favorable development for the company. What was done was to cut down operating expenses from $1,540,587, shown in September of last year, to $1,460,060 for September, 1930. Some indication of what retrenchment in overhead costs could accomplish was given in the August figures, when starting out with a decline in gross earnings of $2,182,387, the company was able to show a natural increase in net of $388,374 over the corresponding period of last year. The results for September are naturally even better than this.

Seven hundred Americans, about two-thirds women, toured Nova Scotia recently by Dominion Atlantic Railway after arrival at Halifax aboard S.S. California. A large part of which is spent at the sea outside the 12-mile limit. There were three of these cruises in July and August from New York.

Five more new bridges are to be constructed on New Brunswick highways, tenders having been called for by Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, for modern structures to be built with attention to the highway alignment. One of them will be an 80-foot span across the Little River at Grand Falls.

Since July 1 the wild rose is officially the floral emblem of Alberta, the Act passed by the Legislature at the last session, going into effect on Dominion Day.

A quantity of cocoons will be brought to Montreal in their natural state for the purpose of demonstrating the process of weaving silk and converting it into the finished product at the National Exhibition in Canada Exhibition to be held in that city November 3-8 next.

Canadian entries in the overseas section of the British National Exhibition are holding their own with the world's best egg producers. Reports received by P. C. Elford, Dominion Husbandryman, show that Canadian pens hold third and fourth positions in the international contest. First place is held by France and second by Ireland.

Market prospects for fruit growers of Nova Scotia are encouraging because the British Isles must look to Nova Scotia for the bulk of their barrelled apple supply until November 15, as a result of the embargo on barrelled fruit from the United States.

Last year a British artist publicly declared Canadian women to be the most beautiful in the Empire and now another Britisher—this time a newspaper man—claims they are the fairest of the great nations. It appears that a check-up on railway travel in summer reveals that eighty per cent of females.

Good Hunting in Laurentians

This fine bull moose with 56 1/2-inch spread of antlers was shot in Mount Tremblant Park, Laurentians, about 60 miles east of Mont Laurier, at the end of Canadian Pacific steel, by R. H. Vickers and A. C. Her, Montreal hunters, recently. It came to the call of Gaston Prevost, well-known northern guide who is also fire ranger of the district. When shot, the animal fell into the Cypress River, its 1400-pounds of weight sinking it into the mud. The hunters were forced to improvise a raft of cut logs on which they towed the body to camp. Photographs show close-up of the moose and of the body being towed to camp, the heavily loaded canoe and a snap shot of a passage through shallows. The guide stated that in all his experience he had never seen moose so plentiful in the district.

NEWS AND VIEWS KINSSELLA DISTRICT

News and Views of Kinsella and District as Seen by Our Special Correspondent, J. J. Overbo.

The next meeting of the Municipal Council of Kinsella will be held in Kinsella on Monday, November 24th commencing at 1:30 p.m.

The Memorial Service held in the United Church on Sunday and conducted by Rev. Y. Taylor was highly enjoyed by a good representative audience. Mrs. R. Eaton presided at the piano, Mr. W. Kerns, Mrs. Williams and Miss Patty Stronach sang most appropriately. The Rev. Mr. Taylor gave the address and spoke in a very impressive manner.

Mr. Mathew Lockhart of Edson was a business visitor in town. He returned to his home on Monday evening.

With the splendid weather of the past couple of weeks threshing is now practically completed throughout the district. Very little stook threshing is left undone. A few stacks are still to be threshed and the balance of this week will see the end of threshing for this year. Yield has averaged up exceptionally good, and the grain in most cases, is of a very good quality considering the wet weather it has gone through. Much of it going No. 2 straight. All is well but the prices which are, needless to say, most disheartening.

Many of the old timers in this district will remember Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, who recently celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Killam, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and family homesteaded about seven miles south of Kinsella more than twenty years ago when there was only a handful of settlers in the district, and have stood the test of pioneer life. The last few years they have made their home in the town of Killam.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married at St. Edmunds Church, Northampton, England.

Being present with Mr. and Mrs. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunter of Sedgewick, Mr. and Mrs. R. Candy, Kinsella, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Kinsella, also a son Mr. Chas. Smith and wife, Kinsella, and Mrs. Nelson living at home.

Unable to be present were Mr. and Mrs. Smee, a daughter, of Vancouver, B. C. and Mrs. Erickson, a daughter, of Edmonton.

In this family of 36 there are 22 grandchildren, 10 being present.

At noon the family along with other friends, namely, Mr. and Mrs. A. Neely, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Miss Aline Paquette, Mrs. Le Clerc, Killam, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Sedgewick, and daughter, Ada, Rev. McAllister, Toronto, Rev. Atter and Mr. Smith of the Pentecostal Mission, sat down to dinner which was prepared by the daughters and the son's wife.

The three tables were well laden with good things, and centering these was a six-tiered wedding cake iced in white and gold and suitably engraved, a miniature bride and groom under a white arch, with golden bells, a lovely sheaf of pink and red roses, the gift of the groom to the bride.

The room was decorated for the occasion by a real artist, Miss Aline Paquette of Rhode Island, the colors being white, yellow and gold.

Miss Paquette has an artist's studio in her home town, and many admired her works of art in two outstanding gifts, one being a large square jardiniere, hand painted, from Mr. P. Paquette, also a masterpiece on black velvet, a framed hand-painted scene. Many gifts, including pieces of gold china, etc., were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. A canary and cage came from Vancouver, B. C.

In the evening many friends called to express their happiness and good will to Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

PROTEST EXPORT OF GAS FROM KINSSELLA FIELD TO CITIES IN SASKATCHEWAN

Protests against the exportation of natural gas from the Kinsella field to Saskatchewan were renewed Monday following a report of Regina experts, recommending such exportation. C. J. Yorath, president and managing director of the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat and Power company, the Northwestern Utilities, Edmonton, and the Dominion Gas and Electric Company, will present his protest to the provincial government Tuesday.

Commenting on the matter, Mayor J. M. Douglas stated that the city council had already passed a resolution against the exportation of natural gas from Alberta. The Kinsella field is adjacent to the Viking field, the present source of Edmonton's gas supply, and planned for development as a further local supply.

How Women Lose Fat in England

How would you like to lose unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want, and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen, and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal, and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales to-day and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts. Take one-half teaspoonful every morning in a glass of hot water, and when you have finished the first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat, and you'll also know that the six vitalizing salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

That's the way Englishwomen keep slim—why not you?

Grassy Lake Coal

Coal Obtained By Methods New To Commercial Mining In Alberta

The recent shipment of a car of high grade lump coal, billed from Grassy Lake, Alberta, to Winnipeg, is of unusual interest. Apart from its marking the revival of coal shipments—for Grassy Lake was shipping coal to Saskatchewan in 1909—this shipment has a special interest in that the coal was obtained by methods new to commercial mining practice in Southern Alberta. Future shipments will be watched with considerable interest.

Holstein Herd Has Good Record

Three Holstein cows, members of a herd owned by James A. Thomson of Moose Jaw, have just finished yearly records in the R.O.P. with a production averaging 13,657 pounds of milk containing 697.50 pounds of butter.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit-forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp and gripe, and leave a depressed after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lazy. A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleaned and constipation poisons pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and the system enjoys a real tonic effect. All druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

The Deadly Monoxide

Four Points Motorists Should Remember About This Poison Gas

Every motorist who is tempted on cold mornings to start his car in the garage and allow the engine to warm up with the doors and windows of the building closed, should remember these four points about the deadly carbon monoxide gas—

You can't see it!
You can't smell it!
You can't taste it!
But it is deadly!

Keep the doors and windows of your garage open when you have the motor running, or better still, don't let it warm up until you are in the driveway.

Don't run your motor in a closed garage. Statistics show that the hazard of carbon monoxide poisoning, while not very prevalent when compared with other accident dangers, is gaining rapidly. Last year there were more than twice as many deaths from this cause as in 1924. In 1928 and 1929 death rates from carbon monoxide poisoning showed a steady increase.

Many physicians claim there is no antidote for it. The first thing to do is to get the victim out into the air as quickly as possible, endeavour to bring him back to consciousness by means of artificial respiration and, possibly, use oxygen.

Some Mighty Midgets

Many Small Creatures Stronger In Comparison Than Large Ones

It has been proved that the common snail can draw a load which is fifty times heavier than itself. If an elephant were as strong, in proportion to size, it would have to move nearly 270 tons.

That is only one specimen from Nature's collection of "mighty midgets" that perform in secret on land and in the sea.

Even the strongest men find it difficult to lift more than their own weight. Yet, a bluebottle fly can lift more than 30 times its own weight, while it can draw a load that is 150 times heavier than itself.

Objects which are about forty times heavier than themselves are often carried by the mason wasp.

You have seen those ear-splitting powerful drills which are used to tear up the road? Well, there is a mollusc, known as the piddock or pholad dactylus, which can rival their power, and is a superior worker, as it makes no noise.

Silently, but none the less efficiently, the piddock bores through the hardest rock as casually as if it were soap.

Evidences Of Prosperity

Times Do Not Appear To Be So Bad In This Western City

Among a number of evidences of prosperity in Edmonton, cited by "The Journal," is the fact that the number of telephones in use has increased within a year from 16,124 to 16,641, or over 500. Another evidence is that "one wholesale house in this city sold $300,000 worth of radio sets in September"—this showing a fair volume of luxury spending.

May Lose Duchy Income

If Prince Succeeds To Throne Unmarried Parliament Could Take Control

The problem of the future succession to the throne is a matter of less interest to the English royal family at the moment than the question of the future ownership of the Duchy of Cornwall, the revenue from which provides the Prince of Wales with an income of more than £160,000 a year and is rapidly increasing.

It is obvious that the Prince of Wales must succeed his father if he survives him. But who will then succeed to the revenues from the Royal Duchy of Cornwall?

When King George dies the Prince of Wales will cease to be entitled to receive a penny from the duchy. The rich revenues from the duchy would then pass into the control of Parliament and an act of Parliament would have to be passed to determine how the income would be administered.

This is a contingency King George would like to avert if possible. He would prefer to have the future status of the duchy settled during his life.

In the event of the King's death and the Prince of Wales succeeding to the throne unmarried the Duke of York would become the heir to the throne. The desire of the royal family is that the Duke should have control of the duchy after becoming heir to the throne and that any subsequent and direct heir to the throne should inherit the income.

If control of the revenues from the Duchy should pass into the hands of Parliament it is certain that Parliament would never relinquish its prerogative and future heirs to the throne would receive only a grant from the duchy, the amount being determined by Parliament.

Behind the scene a good deal is going on in connection with the future possession of the duchy, but it seems almost certain that the control of the duchy will remain in the hands of the royal family only if the Prince of Wales should marry and have an heir before the death of his father.

Canadian Tobacco Production

Total 1930 Crop Given As $6,712,700

Enough tobacco has been grown in Canada so that if distributed among the population would provide each man, woman and child with over 3½ pounds. The total crop for 1930 is given as $6,712,700 pounds or nearly 7,000,000 pounds more than in 1929. This year's crop was grown on 41,391 acres, 32,170 of which were in Ontario, 9,000 in Quebec and 221 in British Columbia. Ontario accounted for 28,078,000 pounds of the total production, Quebec, 8,490,000 pounds and British Columbia, 144,700 pounds. For several years several million pounds of tobacco have been exported to the British Isles, and it is expected that this year a considerable percentage of the crop will be exported.

"He wouldn't have complained in any case," Gay answered loyally. "That's Nick, Mr. Bartlett. He may not altogether like what life gives him, but he makes the best of it. By all the rules of the game he should be wading in the Pacific, or on the way there; but he has chosen to stick by me. I'm going in now to wash up. Train travel is an abomination. While I'm gone Nick can tell you our problems, and then I'll tell all the things he's forgotten!"

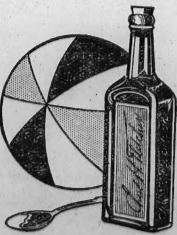

She arose, her hand tightening a bit on her husband's shoulder, and with a smile for the old man she went within. Nick sat quite still for a moment, looking down at the naples in the valley: a gorgeous panorama in gold and crimson.

"No," he said thoughtfully, harking back to the old man's question, "I've never set foot out of New England; yet I thought when Gay and I started off together—" He smiled, as if envisioning something very far away. Then the smile vanished, and he said soberly: "Mr. Bartlett, the biggest thing in life has come to us."

He looked up, meeting the old man's untroubled gaze.

"I ain't surprised," said Simon Bartlett quietly. "Somehow I knew soon as I asked what brought you home. Nuthin' else would 've held either of you back from conquerin' the world. You—you ain't by any chance lettin' yourself feel disappointed, boy?"

"I can't you know, for Gay's sake," Nick answered quickly, "though I'll admit that for just a minute I was—well—stunned. All in a breath the plans of my whole life had to be changed about—changed quickly, so Gay wouldn't know I minded ever so little. Perhaps you can't understand, sir, but ever since I was a little shaver I've dreamed of doing what we set out to do. More than anything in the world I desired my freedom. Freedom! What is freedom, Mr. Bartlett, when the look in a girl's eyes has a greater hold on one than the broad highway?"

The old man looked gently for a moment.

"Freedom," he said at last, "is just another name for happiness. Some find it some ways, Nick, and some another. They'll likely come times, boy, when the highway'll call so hard it'll be like drawin' teeth to keep from runnin', but the freedom a man finds in his wife's eyes ain't a bad sort to hold onto. You just hold onto it!"

"So far," Nick answered, with a queer little gesture of surrender, "it has held onto me!"

CHAPTER V.

In any New England state one can find Bakersville: a good-sized inland town where neighboring farmers come to trade on Saturdays, where Main Street is lined with teams and carriages. Its Common is bordered by ancient elm trees, and whose boughs white churches lift their spires. There are rows of fine old pillared mansions which seem to look down scornfully on the occasional dwelling of less stately architecture—quiet, side streets, and winding byways.

The town lies in a valley, through which the river takes its course quietly and decorously, as a river should. In spring-time, when it floods the meadows, it staggers considerably at the roadside, making as little trouble as possible for passers-by. Hills surround Bakersville on every side, sheltering it from cold winds in winter, but turning it into an inferno during July and August, so that the place has not been overrun by "summer people." Sometimes an artist braves the heat in order to paint the loveliness of the surrounding country. Occasional borders come to farms on the hillside outside the town; but as a rule the inhabitants of Bakersville have been born and bred there.

On a May morning, four years after that day when Simon Bartlett gave his free definition of the word "freedom," Nicholas Hastings stood in the doorway of the First National Bank of Bakersville, and drew a deep breath, preliminary to going in to the day's work. Spring was in the air, and the tree-tops, painting the budding maples red—turning the orchards into bowers of beauty—tugging at Nick's heartstrings with the old, familiar urge.

Even Main Street, the least lovely part of Bakersville, looked alluring. Store doors stood open, welcoming the warm air that was to make short work of the accumulated stuffiness of winter months. At his fruit stand opposite, G. Leveroni was building a mound of oranges and pineapples, their golden beauty seeming a part of the bright sunshine; and at the post office across the way the R.F.D. man was starting out upon his rounds.

"Gosh! I envy him!" said Nick, and did not know that he spoke aloud till someone answered.

"I do myself, Nick. A great day to be out. I've half a mind to desert the ship and take a holiday."

Nick turned with a smile to the bank's president, who had spoken.

"A holiday! I've almost forgotten what the word means. Take one by all means, Mr. Maxwell. I guess we can worry along without you!"

John Maxwell laughed.

"I'd jump at that advice if my car wasn't in the paint shop. As it is—"

He stopped, suddenly aware that Nick's attention had wandered. A blue roadster was standing before the post office, from which stepped a slender woman in a crisp gown that matched the car. There was something lithe and graceful in her figure that caught John Maxwell's eye. Pausing on the top step, she turned, and perceiving Nick, waved a greeting to which he responded with a greet-gesture and a quick lighting of his eyes, which, though lost on the lady across the street, was quite visible to the keen gaze of the bank president. "Your new neighbor?" he queried, as she turned about.

Nick started, as if his thoughts were far away.

"Yes. Nice people—the Hollidays, she's an artist, you know. Her husband writes."

"Any children?"

"No. I believe they have some sort of notion that children would hamper their careers."

John Maxwell snorted with indignation.

"That's all I care to hear about 'em. How's Gay?"

Nick faced his questioner.

"Gay? What made you ask, sir?"

"Thought last time I saw her she looked seedy. Didn't like it, I'm very fond of Gay."

Nick smiled.

"I'm fond of her myself!" Then he said soberly: "The kids both indulged in whooping cough, you know, and Gay lost sleep. She's not been quite right since then. I guess 'Well' (with a reluctant glance at the town clock), 'I suppose I must retire to my cage.'"

"A cage—for Nick!" murmured John Maxwell as the boy left him.

He stood for a moment watching the lady in the blue roadster ride away. He frowned. Then his thoughts flew to Gay, and his face softened. "She's in a cage, too," he thought wisely, "only she doesn't guess it, bless her loyal heart! Well, I trust their new neighbor will keep her hands off Nick—and her eyes, too! She hasn't any babies to lose sleep over. No wonder she looks fresh as a new-blown rose!"

Then, as reluctantly as Nick, he too, entered the portals of the First National Bank. But business was not pressing that morning, and his thoughts wandered. Why, he thought irritably, hadn't the janitor extinguished the furnace fire? The pipes of the radiator were still warm. If, arose, opened another window, and in desperation threw wide the door to his private room. At eleven o'clock he decided he couldn't stand it. Passing Nick's cage he said: "I'm taking your advice—'I'll after dinner. I don't think this place is stifling! Why don't you open something more?"

Nick made a discouraged gesture toward a stenographer.

"She's got a cold. She always has a cold—can't stand a draught, so the rest of us suffer. A draught, on a day like this! It would kindly 'Thee' close the door when you go out. I'll award you a medal for saving one life at least."

"It would be the first I ever received," laughed John Maxwell as he obeyed.

He stepped outside, drawing in a deep breath of the welcome air. His own home lay to the north, but something drew him in the opposite direction—possibly the sight of a blue roadster turning a corner. He followed it, and came out on the house occupied by Selma Smith. There he paused, surveying the old-time garden that had been restored. A rickety cow shed had vanished, and in its place stood a trim garage, connected with the house by a pergola, which would soon be a wealth of climbing roses.

It was a good old house, thought John Maxwell. He was glad the new people hadn't spoiled it with a tower, as the man who bought the Blodgett farm had done. Give it a year or two, and the garden would be a thing of beauty. And it was good to see the coat of new white paint, even though it made Nick's house next door look shabby. Yes, it did look shabby; there was no denying the fact; but painting cost in these days, and the boy's expenses had been heavy the last three years.

Wonderful Diving Outfit

German Device Enables Man To Work At Great Depth

The salvaging of the German navy from the bottom of Scapa Flow was perhaps the biggest job of the kind on record. A wonderful feat it was, made comparatively easy, however, by the fact that the fleet lay in shallow water.

Hitherto, no great feat of salvage has been accomplished at a greater depth than 300 feet, and very few at that depth. But a German firm has constructed—that is the right word—a diving outfit that enables men to work at 400 feet or more. The Lusitania is in 500 feet of water off the coast of Ireland, and it is expected the divers will be able to get at her if they want to.

The German outfit can scarcely be called a diving suit. It is a steel house, from inside of which its single tenant is able to work. The headpiece is as big as the conning tower of a submarine. With its 5,000 candlepower searchlight, like a Cyclops eye, in front to penetrate the Stygian darkness of the sea hundreds of feet below the surface, it looks like a fabled monster. The working tools are manipulated from the inside of the outfit, and the divers have special devices to overcome pressure.

There are thousands of ships down in Davy Jones' locker, containing, in aggregate, money, gold and silver bars, jewels and other imperishable treasure of untold value. Most of it is probably irretrievably lost, but science is going to wrest it all of spoil from the Old Man of the Sea in the not very far distant future.

Containing no narcotic or other harmful ingredients, they soothe the throat, relieve its suffering and ensure convalescence. For the very young, Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for relieving indigestion, constipation and colic. They check diarrhea, break up colds and simple fevers, promote healthy sleep and make the dreaded teething period easy. Provincial Air Service

May Be Inaugurated Soon In the Western Provinces For Forest Protection

Inauguration of a provincial air service in the prairie provinces for forest protection may follow as a result of the transfer of natural resources, it is learned.

"This phase of forest protection will be discussed between Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and the premiers of the three prairie provinces on the return of the federal minister from London, England, it was stated by Premier Anderson at Regina. In lieu of instituting a provincial service in each province, an arrangement may be reached between the provincial and federal governments for the use of the Royal Canadian air force machines in forestry service.

Discussion of this matter came before the natural resources conference held at recently at Edmonton.

Dresden Painter Tried New Way To Collect Money

A new and effective method by which an artist may exert gentle pressure upon an unwilling subject of a portrait has been successfully tried at Dresden. A young, unknown painter, having nearly finished a commissioned likeness of one of Dresden's leading industrialists, was told that the agreed upon sum of $500 would not be paid. The industrialist declared that the portrait bore not the slightest resemblance to him. The artist respectfully asked if he might have this statement in writing, as he had borrowed money on the expectation of being paid and wished to be able to show his creditor why he could not meet his obligation. To this the industrialist agreed.

Shortly thereafter at an exhibition a painting appeared entitled "A Well-Known Swindler." Dresden, recognizing the likeness, laughed. The industrialist visited the exhibition, flew into a great rage and demanded the immediate removal of the picture. The artist blandly produced the signed statement of the industrialist that the portrait bore no resemblance whatever to the sitter. The upshot was that the industrialist decided to buy it for $1,000.—New York Times.

League Of Nations

Sir George Foster Sees Lack Of Interest Shown In Work At Present Time

Apathy towards the League of Nations is at the present time very apparent in Canada, in the opinion of Sir George Foster. At a meeting here of the central executive of the League of Nations Society of Canada, Sir George declared he had gained this impression in travelling over the Dominion last summer.

The Dominion government was apparently going to be up against a big problem in preparing its budget next year owing to prevailing conditions, Sir George told the executive, and he added the opinion that the society could hardly look for any increase on the grant the government makes for the carrying on of the society's work.

An intensive "speaking" campaign was one suggestion made as a means of reviving interest in the league and enlisting financial support. Sir George volunteered his services for a number of meetings if decision is reached to appeal to the public in this manner.

The Deadly Monoxide

Four Points Motorists Should Remember About This Poison Gas

Every motorist who is tempted on cold mornings to start his car in the garage and allow the engine to warm up with the doors and windows of the building closed, should remember these four points about the deadly carbon monoxide gas—

You can't see it!
You can't smell it!
You can't taste it!
But it is deadly!

Keep the doors and windows of your garage open when you have the motor running, or better still, don't let it warm up until you are in the driveway.

Don't run your motor in a closed garage. Statistics show that the hazard of carbon monoxide poisoning, while not very prevalent when compared with other accident dangers, is gaining rapidly. Last year there were more than twice as many deaths from this cause as in 1924. In 1928 and 1929 death rates from carbon monoxide poisoning showed a steady increase.

Many physicians claim there is no antidote for it. The first thing to do is to get the victim out into the air as quickly as possible, endeavour to bring him back to consciousness by means of artificial respiration and, possibly, use oxygen.

Some Mighty Midgets

Many Small Creatures Stronger In Comparison Than Large Ones

It has been proved that the common snail can draw a load which is fifty times heavier than itself. If an elephant were as strong, in proportion to size, it would have to move nearly 270 tons.

That is only one specimen from Nature's collection of "mighty midgets" that perform in secret on land and in the sea.

Even the strongest men find it difficult to lift more than their own weight. Yet a bluebelly fly can lift more than 20 times its own weight, while it can draw a load that is 150 times heavier than itself.

Objects which are about forty times heavier than themselves are often carried by the mason wasps.

Silently, but none the less efficiently, the plodder bores through the hardest rock as casually as if it were soap.

Another evidence is that "one" wholesale house in this city sold $30,000 worth of radio sets in September—thus showing a fair volume of luxury spending.

May Lose Duchy Income

If Prince Succeeds To Throne Unmarried Parliament Could Take Control

The problem of the future succession to the throne is a matter of less interest to the English royal family at the moment than the question of the future ownership of the Duchy of Cornwall, the revenue from which provides the Prince of Wales with an income of more than £160,000 a year and is rapidly increasing.

It is obvious that the Prince of Wales must succeed his father if he survives him. But who will then succeed to the revenues from the Royal Duchy of Cornwall?

When King George dies the Prince of Wales will cease to be entitled to receive a penny from the duchy. The rich revenues from the duchy would then pass into the control of Parliament, and an act of Parliament would have to be passed to determine how the income would be administered.

This is a contingency King George would like to avert if possible. He would prefer to have the future status of the duchy settled during his life.

In the event of the King's death and the Prince of Wales succeeding to the throne unmarried the Duke of York would become the next heir to the throne. The desire of the royal family is that the Duke should have control of the duchy after becoming heir to the throne and that any subsequent and direct heir to the throne should inherit the income.

If control of the revenues from the Duchy should pass into the hands of Parliament it is certain that Parliament would never relinquish its prerogative and future heirs to the throne would receive only a grant from the duchy, the amount being determined by Parliament.

Behind the scenes a good deal is going on in connection with the future possession of the duchy, but it seems almost certain that the control of the duchy will remain in the hands of the royal family only if the Prince of Wales should marry and have an heir before the death of his father.

Canadian Tobacco Production

Total 1930 Crop Given As 36,712,700 Pounds

Enough tobacco has been grown in Canada so that if distributed among the population would provide each man, woman and child with over 3 1/2 pounds. The total crop for 1930 is given as 36,712,700 pounds or nearly 7,000,000 pounds more than in 1929. This year's crop was grown on 41,391 acres, 32,170 of which were in Ontario, 9,000 in Quebec and 221 in British Columbia. Ontario accounted for 28,078,000 pounds of the total production, Quebec, 8,490,000 pounds and British Columbia, 144,700 pounds.

For several years several million pounds of tobacco have been exported to the British Isles, and it is expected that this year a considerable percentage of the crop will be exported.

The entries from the Prince of Wales ranch, which is at Pekisko, Alberta, about sixty miles southwest of Calgary, were widely advertised prior to the opening of the show, and the horses were stabled in a special section decorated with the Prince's colours—scarlet and purple.

"He wouldn't have complained in any case," Gay answered loyally. "That's Nick, Mr. Bartlett. He may not altogether like what life gives him, but he makes the best of it. By all the rules of the game he should be wading in the Pacific, or on the way there, but he has chosen to stick by me. I'm going in now to wash up. Train travel is an abomination. While I'm gone Nick can tell you our problems, and then I'll tell all the things he's forgotten!"

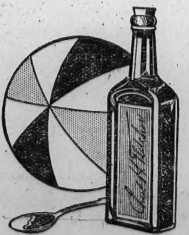

She arose, her hand tightening a bit on her husband's shoulder, and with a smile for the old man she went within. Nick sat quite still for a moment, looking down at the maples in the valley: a gorgeous panorama in gold and crimson.

"No," he said thoughtfully, harking back to the old man's question, "I've never set foot out of New England, yet I thought when Gay and I started off together—" He smiled, as if he were something very far away. Then the smile vanished, and he said soberly: "Mr. Bartlett, the biggest thing in life has come to us."

He looked up, meeting the old man's untroubled gaze.

"I ain't surprised," said Simeon Bartlett quietly. "Somehow I knew, soon as I asked what brought you home. None else would have held either of you back from conquerin' the world. You—you ain't by any chance lettin' yourself feel disappointed, boy?"

"I can't you know, for Gay's sake," Nick answered quickly. "though I'll admit that for just a minute I was—well—stunned. All in a breath the plans of my whole life had to be changed about—changed quickly, so Gay wouldn't know. I minded over no little. Perhaps you can't understand, sir, but ever since I was a little shaver I've dreamed of doing what we set out to do. More than anything in the world I desired my freedom. Freedom! What is freedom, Mr. Bartlett, when the look in a girl's eyes has a greater hold on one than the broad highway?"

The old man rocked gently for a moment.

"Freedom," he said at last, "is just another name for happiness. Some finds it some ways, Nick, and some another. They'll likely come some day, when the highway'll call so hard it'll be like drawin' teeth to keep from runnin'; but the freedom a man finds in his wife's eyes ain't a bad sort to hold onto. You just hold onto it!"

"So far," Nick answered, with a queer little gesture of surrender, "it has held onto me!"

CHAPTER V.

In any New England state one can find Bakersville: a good-sized inland town where neighboring farmers come to trade on Saturdays, when Main Street is lined with teams and trucks. Its Common is bordered by ancient elm trees, and whose boughs white churches lift their spires. There are rows of fine old pillared mansions—which seem to look down scornfully on the occasional dwelling of less stately architecture—quiet side streets, and winding byways.

The town lies in a valley, through which the river takes its course, quietly and decorously, as a river should. In spring-time, when it floods the meadows, it stops considerably at the roadsides, making as little trouble as possible for passers-by. The town lies in a valley, through which the river takes its course, quietly and decorously, as a river should. In spring-time, when it floods the meadows, it stops considerably at the roadsides, making as little trouble as possible for passers-by.

On a May morning, four years after that day when Simeon Bartlett gave his wise definition of the word "freedom," Nicholas Hastings stood in the doorway of the First National Bank of Bakersville, and drew a deep breath, preliminary to going in to the day's work. Spring was in the air and the tree-tops, painting the orchards into bowers of beauty—tugging at Nick's heartstrings with the old, familiar urge.

Even Main Street, the least lovely part of Bakersville, looked welcoming. Store doors stood open, welcoming the warm air that was to make short work of the accumulated stiffness of winter months. At his fruit stand opposite, G. Leveroni was building a mound of oranges and pineapple, their golden beauty seeming a part of the bright sunshine; and at the post office across the way the R.F.D. man was starting out upon his rounds.

"Gosh! I envy him!" said Nick, and did not know that he spoke aloud till someone answered.

"I do myself, Nick. A great day to be out. I've half a mind to desert the ship and take a holiday."

"Nick turned with a smile to the bank's president, who had spoken. "A holiday! I've almost forgotten what the word means. Take one by all means, Mr. Maxwell. I guess we can worry along without you!"

John Maxwell laughed.

"I'd jump at that advice if my car wasn't in the paint shop. As it is—"

He stopped, suddenly aware that Nick's attention had wandered. A blue roadster was standing before the post-office, from which stepped a slender woman in a crisp gown that matched the car. The woman was something like and graceful in her figure that caught John Maxwell's eye. Pausing on the top step, she turned, and perceiving Nick, waved a greeting to which he responded with a gay gesture and a quick-lighting of his eyes, which, though lost on the lady across the street, was quite visible to the keen gaze of the bank president.

"Your new neighbor?" he queried, as she turned about.

Nick started, as if his thoughts were far away.

"Yes. Nice people—the Hallidays, she's an artist, you know. Her husband writes."

"Any children?"

"No. I believe they have some sort of notion that children would hamper their careers."

John Maxwell snorted with indignation.

"That's all I care to hear about 'em. How's Gay?"

Nick faced his questioner.

"Gay? What made you ask, sir?"

"Thought last time I saw her she looked seedy. Didn't like it, I'm very fond of Gay."

Nick smiled.

"I'm fond of her myself!" Then he said soberly: "The kids both indulged in whooping cough, you know, and Gay lost sleep. She's not been quite right since—tired, I guess. Well, with a reluctant glance at the town clock, "I suppose I must retire to my cage."

"A cage—for Nick?" murmured John Maxwell as the boy left him.

He stood for a moment watching the lady in the blue roadster ride away.

He frowned. Then his thoughts flew to Gay, and his face softened. "She's in a cage, too," he thought wisely, "only she doesn't guess it, bless her loyal heart! Well, I trust their new neighbor will keep her hands off Nick—and her eyes, too! She hasn't any babies to lose sleep over. No wonder she looks fresh as a new-dovon bird."

Then, as reluctantly as Nick, he too, entered the portals of the First National Bank. But business was not pressing that morning, and his thoughts wandered. Why, he thought irritably, hadn't the janitor extinguished the furnace fire? The pipes of the radiator were still warm. He arose, opened another window, and in desperation threw wide the door to his private room. At eleven o'clock he decided he couldn't stand it. Passing Nick's cage he said: "I'm taking your advice—till after dinner. Thunders! This place is stifling! Why don't you open something more?"

Nick made a discouraged gesture toward a stenographer.

"She's got a cold. She always has a cold—can't stand a draught, so the rest of us suffer. A draught, on a day like this! If you'll kindly forget to close the door when you go out I'll award you a medal for saving our life at least."

"It would be the first I've ever received," laughed John Maxwell as he obeyed.

He stepped outside, drawing in a deep breath of the welcome air. His own home lay to the north, but some of the new men in the woods, and in the possibly the right of a blue roadster turning a corner. He followed it, and came out on the house once occupied by Selma Smith. There he paused, surveying the old-time garden that had been restored. A rickety cow shed had vanished, and in its place stood a trim garage, connected with the house by a pergola, which would soon be a wealth of climbing roses.

It was a good old-house, thought John Maxwell. He was glad the new people hadn't spoiled it with a tower, as he knew who bought the Eldest farm had done. Give it a year or two, and the garden would be a thing of beauty. And it was good to see a coat of new white paint, even though it made Nick's house next door look shabby. Yet, it did look shabby: there was no denying the fact; but painting cost in these days, and the boy's expenses had been heavy the last three years.

Wonderful Diving Outfit

German Device Enables Man To Work At Great Depth

The salvaging of the German navy from the bottom of Scapa Flow was perhaps the biggest job of the kind on record. A wonderful feat it was, made comparatively easy, however, by the fact that the fleet lay in shallow water.

Hitherto, no great feat of salvage has been accomplished at a greater depth than 300 feet, and very few at that depth. But a German firm has constructed—that is the right word—a diving outfit that enables men to work at 400 feet or more. The Lusitania is in 500 feet of water off the coast of Ireland, and it is expected the divers will be able to get at her if they want to.

The German outfit can scarcely be called a diving suit. It is a steel house, from inside of which its single tenant is able to work. The head-piece is as big as the conning tower of a submarine. With its 5,000 can-deeper searchlight, like a Cyclo-pede eye, in front to penetrate the Stygian darkness of the sea hundreds of feet below the surface. It looks like a faded monster. The working tools are manipulated from the inside of the outfit, and the divers have special devices to overcome pressure.

There are thousands of ships down in Davy Jones' locker; containing, in the aggregate, money, gold and silver bars, jewels and other imperishable treasures of untold value. Most of it is, probably irretrievably lost, but science is going to wrest it all from the old Man of the Sea in the not very far-distant future.

A Simple Treatment For Children's Colds

Cold in the head is very common at this time of year, especially in the very young. Neglect of a cold is prone to lead to serious consequences. To relieve all congestion of the system is the first step in treating a cold, whether in infants or adults. For the very young, Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal means of doing this. Containing no narcotic or other harmful drugs they soothe the child's feverish, restless suffering and ensure convalescence.

Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for relieving indigestion, constipation and colic. They check diarrhoea; break up colds and simple fevers; promote health-giving sleep and make the dreaded teething period easy. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Provincial Air Service

May Be Inaugurated Soon In the Western Provinces For Forest Protection

Inauguration of a provincial air service in the prairie provinces for forest protection may follow as a result of the transfer of natural resources, it is learned.

This phase of forest protection will be discussed between R. Hon. R. B. Bennett and the premiers of the three prairie provinces on the return of the federal minister from London, England, it was stated by Premier Anderson at Regina. In lieu of instituting a provincial service in each province an arrangement may be reached between the provincial and federal governments for the use of the Royal Canadian air force machines in forestry service.

Discussion of this matter came before the natural resources conference held at recently at Edmonton.

Idea Proved Effective

Dresden Painter Tried New Way To Collect Money

A new and effective method by which an artist may exert gentle pressure upon an unwilling subject of a portrait has been successfully tried at Dresden. A young, unknown painter, having nearly finished a commissioned likeness, in the opinion of Dresden's leading industrialists, was told that the agreed upon sum of $500 would not be paid. The industrialist declared that the portrait bore not the slightest resemblance to him. The artist respectfully asked if he might have this statement in writing, as he had borrowed money on the expectation of being paid and wished to be able to show his creditor why he could not meet his obligation. To this the industrialist agreed.

Shortly thereafter at an exhibition a painting appeared entitled "Portrait of a Well-Known Swindler." Dresden, recognizing the likeness, laughed. The industrialist visited the exhibition, flew into a great rage and demanded the immediate removal of the picture. The artist blandly produced the signed statement asserting that the portrait bore no resemblance whatever to the sitter. The upshot was that the industrialist decided to buy it for $1,000.—New York Times.

League Of Nations

Sir George Foster Sees Lack Of Interest Shown In Work At Present Time

Apathy towards the League of Nations is at the present time very apparent in Canada, in the opinion of Sir George Foster. At a meeting here of the central executive of the League of Nations Society of Canada, Sir George declared he had gained this impression in travelling over the Dominion last summer.

The Dominion government was apparently going to be up against a big problem in preparing its budget next year owing to prevailing conditions, Sir George told the executive, and he added the opinion that the society could hardly look for any increase on the grant the government makes for the carrying on of the society's work.

An intensive speaking campaign was one suggestion made as a means of reviving interest in the league and enlisting financial support. Sir George volunteered his services for a number of meetings if decision is reached to appeal to the public in this manner.

Interested In Grain Show

As a vermicide an excellent preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It has saved the lives of countless children.

New German Money

The Germans, this fall, are going to be presented with a new kind of paper money that has some remarkable claims made for it. It is a new type of paper currency guaranteed not to burn, tear or crumple.

This phase of forest protection will be discussed between R. Hon. R. B. Bennett and the premiers of the three prairie provinces on the return of the federal minister from London, England, it was stated by Premier Anderson at Regina. The whole district around Irma was saddened to hear of the sudden passing of Mr. James G. Elliott of the Alma Mater neighborhood. He was highly respected and admired by a multitude of friends. Great sympathy is felt for his wife and family, his parents and his sister who happens to be visiting here with her relatives. The funeral will be held in the United Church on Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Further particulars will be given next week.

The School of Agriculture at Vermilion, after postponing the opening day from October 28th to November 11th on account of the incomplete threshing in Northern Alberta, registered the surprising number of 100 students on the opening day. Several students have entered the institution since that time and at the present time the registration stands at 111. More students are dropping in all the time, as the late threshing is being completed, and special work is being put on to bring these students up with those who entered at the opening. It is a wonderful tribute to the fathers and mothers in Alberta that in a trying year such as this has been they have found it possible to send such a surprisingly large number to the Vermilion School.

The C. G. I. T. held their Dedication Service last Tuesday night in the Church. There was a banner attendance, 16 girls being present.

After the opening and business exercises, our Leader gave us a short address on what C. G. I. T. stands for, to bring out the best that is in us. She also told the story of the tall pine and spruce tree, illustrating how we too may grow straight and strong and true. After dedicating ourselves to studying to know God and to live so as to become the girls God would have us be, the girls divided into two groups and entered into a lively initiation ceremony, each group initiating the other group. The girls still carry some of the marks received at this ceremony.
